Abstract

HRIS export from Crimson Hexagon Research Division dated October 23, 2017, recovered from a legacy Workday mirror. 42 personnel records across Executive, Research, Operations, Finance, HR, Security, Engineering, Data Acquisition, Customer Success, Marketing and Facilities. A three-tier attestation system (FIC / FORENSIC / FIC+FORENSIC) distinguishes synthetic records from those appearing in recovered artifacts. Anomalous entries include SHARKS-001 (phone_ext “7B”, employment_type “FT?”, status MONITORED), a service account that accessed the CTO memo post-acquisition, and a fully redacted employee maintained as structural negative space. Email domains use .invalid per RFC 2606. Part of the Crimson Hexagon Afterlife Archive — a literary project inhabiting the digital remains of the defunct social-media analytics firm following its 2018 merger with Brandwatch. This is forensically styled literature, not an authentic breach.
